The Explorer
Says:—10
Cents

I am an explorer.

On my journeys into wild countries I take "Helmar" Turkish cigarettes as necessary luggage.

Many a time I've blessed the day I first learned of "Helmar." They've cheered me when loneliness made me blue. They've kept me calm and clear-headed in many a tight place. They're bully!

"Helmar" I consider in a class "all its own."

The mildest tobacco for cigarettes is Turkish.

The best tobacco for cigarettes is Turkish.

Don't pay ten cents for anybody's cigarette until you have tried "Helmar," a fascinating, elevating, gentleman's smoke.

Theory of Murder of Mrs. Annie Costello in New Haven, Conn.

New Haven, Conn., April 27.—That the young woman who died at the New Haven hospital Monday afternoon following her removal from her room in a boarding house on Crown street, where she was found in a dying condition with a wound on her head, indicating that she had been assaulted, is Mrs. Annie Costello, missing from her home at 213 East 103rd street, New York, and that she was murdered in her room here by a man who posed as her husband, and who disappeared after the assault, is the declared belief of Chief of Detectives Henry Donnelly of this city.

MRS. ROGERS

Acquitted of the Charge of Murdering Her Two Children

WOMAN WEPT ON HEARING VERDICT

Jury Was Out Two Hours
and Five Minutes Before
Reaching Its Decision

New York, April 27.—Mrs. Ida Sniffen Walters Rogers was yesterday afternoon acquitted of the murder of her two children. The jury was out two hours and five minutes.

Mrs. Rogers threw her arms around her husband's neck when the verdict was announced and wept.

After her first outburst of weeping, Mrs. Rogers collapsed entirely and it took fifteen minutes to revive her.

"Oh," she sobbed, "the ordeal has been terrible."

Rogers was very happy.

"Now we can go away with our little baby," he said. "Mrs. Rogers wants to go somewhere—anywhere—where there are flowers. We shall take a trip and forget this nightmare."

PLEADS GUILTY TO MANSLAUGHTER

Hormidas Saulnier Retracted Former Plea at Lawrence, Mass.

Lawrence, Mass., April 27.—Hormidas Saulnier, on trial for the murder of Henry H. Willis of Bradford in an Essex street lodging house, yesterday retracted his plea of not guilty of murder and pleaded guilty to manslaughter. This action was taken following a conference between District Attorney Louis S. Cox and counsel for Saulnier, former District Attorney Michael A. Sullivan, at Judge Sisk's bench. Judge Sisk then announced that he would pass sentence on Saulnier on Friday.

Willis' death was the result of asphyxiation, and the prosecution attempted to show that in an attempt to extort a large sum of money from Willis, Saulnier pried some soap out of an unused gas jet and allowed the gas to flow into the room occupied by Willis, thus causing his death.

Saulnier claimed that Willis was responsible for the flow of gas into his room. Saulnier and his wife, when arrested in Boston, following the tragedy, had the money taken from Willis. The trial opened Tuesday.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"The Only Girl," a Dainty and Bewitching Musical Comedy.

In the dainty and bewitching musical comedy, "The Only Girl," which was such a hit recently and returns by popular demand to the Barre opera house, matinee and night, Saturday, April 29, there is an enticing song and story, beautifully told, harmoniously blended possessing consistent continuity of the romantic kind. It is well laden with clever satire and it can truthfully be stated that it is one of the most seductive and dainty plays that has been offered to the public for a number of seasons. It stands to reason that it should be attractive because it is written by two of the cleverest writers for the Victor Herbert is the author of the music and Henry Blossom has contributed the book, therefore the joint work of two gentlemen of unchallenged reputation in their respective lines of endeavor. Mr. Herbert's music is everybody knows, is delightful; he has never written anything that has not been well received by the public. As a writer of satire and clever wit, Henry Blossom has never been excelled.—adv.

Gladys Klark at Opera House. Gladys Klark and her own stock company will open a week's engagement at the Barre opera house, Monday night with a presentation of "Bought and Paid For," by George Broadhurst. In this play there are four important roles, each representing a distinct type, and each a faithful composite portrait of a modern class with which all are familiar. There is Virginia Blaine, the delicate and refined little telephone operator, who marries the "self-made" king of finance. Thrown upon her own resources at an early age by the death of her father, who left behind him little but his good name, she struggled bravely to maintain her decency, self-respect and at the same time add to her store of knowledge of things worth while. It is a play every one should see. High class vaudeville will be introduced between the acts. A solid car of special scenery is carried for the entire repertoire. Popular priced matinee Wednesday and Saturday. Seats on sale at Drown's Saturday morning.—adv.
